

The Dead of Night

A creation of: Derek Chapman

GREETINGS FELLOW DUNGEON MASTERS.

For your information, the dungeon which is presented in this module was generated by the DunGen dungeon generator, created by Steve Alvarez. Although the dungeon's rooms monsters and traps were generated by the DunGen dungeon generator, you should note that the story line and all NPC's are a creation of yours truly, Derek Chapman. If you like the dungeon in this module you can download the generation utility at <http://rpghost.com/DunGen/> or you can contact DunGen's creator via Email at salvarez@yahoo.com. This is my first attempt at designing a module for online submission so please send me your questions and comments. You can reach me by email at Thonginvader00@hotmail.com. This module is for personal use only and not to be sold or distributed for money. This module is set in the forgotten realms campaign setting. With all the formalities out of the way we can finally get to the adventure. Here it is, I hope you enjoy it.

(My Players were between levels 6-9 when they played this module, but ultimately its up to you the DM to decide)

PART 1 (THE INTRODUCTION)

This adventure begins at a tavern in a small town. Which town is up to the DM, this module requires that there be an undiscovered catacomb underneath the town, so don't use a town that has mines or any other underground fixture that the local people know of.

(Section 1)

The PC's are resting in the small inn after having come off some recent adventure. They are enjoying themselves but little do they know that the bartender (a short, bald, pudgy sort) has been poisoning their drinks all night with mild sedatives. Read the following to the players.

Life is good, At least for now. Long has it been since you can remember a time when the ale has flown so freely, every wench has possessed a full set of teeth, and the food and entertainment have been so good. You sit and indulge draught after draught from your shiny silver tankards, while listening to a bard from a faraway land spin beautiful tales of fair maidens and chivalrous knights. You can't help but dwell on your past adventures. All the time you wonder what the fates will bring you next. Will Tymora smile upon you, or will the wicked Beshaba extend her foot to trip you? Who knows? One thing is for sure, tonight, nothing could go wrong.

After a while the festivities begin to die down. People are starting to leave in a steady pattern, and the bard is packing away his lute. Night has overtaken the land and the bar patrons are going home to their wives and children.

The bard, dressed in fine and exotic silks, turns his attention to your group. His deep azure eyes are in some ways hypnotic. He approaches you and says in a very low whisper, "If you wish to live, follow me". He then he walks to the corner furthest from the bar and sits down in the booth located there

If the PC's do not follow the bard he will order a drink, take a few draughts and leave. Upon that time the PC's must make a Save vs. Poison at -5 or pass out cold from the sedatives. If all the players pass out the bartender will simply slit their throats one by one. If any of the PC's manage to make their saves continue at section 2.

If the PC's decide to follow the bard read the following to them.

As you approach the bard he looks at you with a thoughtful stare and says in the same whisper that you've come to know him by, "Please sit my friends, and speak in whispers. My name is Karragen and I have information that could quite possibly save your lives. For a price of course."

The amount of information divulged to the players depends upon the amount that they are willing to pay. Read the appropriate text aloud to the PC's.

1-14 gold pieces: Karragen says "Surely your lives are worth more to you than a few measly coins. I'm afraid this is not enough money to give you information as valuable as this."

15-29 gold pieces: Karragen says "This is all that your lives are worth to you, (sigh) no matter, listen well. The barkeep has been poisoning your drinks with a sleeping drug. I saw him mixing the drug with your ales. That is all I know."

30+ gold pieces: Karragen says "Listen to me, and listen good my friends. The barkeep has been poisoning your drinks for some time now. I saw him mixing in some sort of sedative sleeping drug. I also heard him speaking of a man coming here tonight to kill you all, I cannot help you with the assassin, but I do have an antidote for the drug you have been given". He then proceeds to pull a flask of blue Liquid from his pack and says "you must each take one draught from this flask to neutralize the poison you have been given."

Karragen doesn't know the bartender's motives and will gladly tell the PC's that he doesn't. When the conversation ends read the following to the players.

Karragen yawns and says, "Well I really must be going now. I am quite tired and I've still got business to attend elsewhere. Fare well compatriots, and godspeed." He then stands and walks to the exit, after picking up his instrument.

Name	XP	THAC0	Level	# of attacks	Damage	Hit Points	Alignment
Karragen	-	18	7	1	1d4 by dagger	36	Neutral

If attacked or harassed Karragen will flee.

If the PCs find out that they have been poisoned and are actively trying to stay awake the poison save will be attempted without the -5 penalty. Either way if the PCs make their saving throw checks they will manage to fight off sleep for another 4 hours, however all attack rolls made in that time will be made at a -3 due to drowsiness. The blue liquid given to them by Karragen will neutralize the poison.

1a) If the PCs were to loud when they were conversing with the bard, the chances are the bartender overheard them and disappeared (ran) along with both of the serving wenches. A search of the premises will reveal the bartender along with the wenches, cut and shredded into a bloody pile of gore, and stuffed inside the pantry along side the herbs and spices.

1b) however if the PCs were quiet in their conversation with the bard read the following passage to them.

Standing behind the bar the pudgy, bald little form of the bartender flashes you a smile. You look around only to find that your party, the wenches and the bartender are now the only occupants of the tavern. The bartender say's "Well I'm sorry to say but I'm afraid it's almost closing time, have one last round on the house, for being my best customer's tonight." He begins to fill your tankards.

If the PCs refuse, the bartender will insist. If they still refuse, try to question the bartender, or take any aggressive actions toward him, read the following passage to the players.

The bartender stands resolute as he looks you into the eyes and says "Damn you adventurers! Must you do everything the hard way." The pudgy man and both wenches begin to transform right in front of your eyes, morphing into strange looking humanoids with solid white eyes and hairless gray skin. The former bartender shouts to the other two creatures in a funny high-pitched voice, "Come on you two we have to hold them here until Braxius arrives." You brace yourselves for the inevitable battle that is about to ensue.

Monster	Xp	Treasure	AC	Att#	Move	Damage	THAC0	Hit Dice	Hit Points
Doppelganger	420		5	1	9	1d12	17	4	30
Doppelganger	420		5	1	9	1d12	17	4	23
Doppelganger	420		5	1	9	1d12	17	4	25

After the fight if the PCs search the Tavern they will find the bartender and the wenches in the same shape as described before, shredded and dismembered in the pantry.

(Section 2)

After the fight is over, the bodies are found, or if the PCs didn't follow the bard and still made their saves. Read the following to the players.

"You barely have time to gather your wits before the Tavern door is splintered into a thousand pieces. Through the door steps a giant of a man who can only be described as scary. The man is a towering 7' tall with thick and healthy folds of jet-black hair cascading down his broad shoulders. His neck and arms are the thickness of tree trunks, his eyes are a deep and disturbing purple. You know his gleaming plate mail must conceal thick, rippling muscles. The symbol of a black hand trapped within a red shield is emblazoned upon his wide forehead. He carries a two-handed sword with a jewel encrusted ebony hilt.

Following directly behind him are five human like beings with tough leathery looking skin that appears to be decaying and falling away. A hateful light burn's in their ominous eyes, and they stink of death. They are each brandishing long swords in their rotting hands.

The dark-haired man looks to each of you and in a deep menacing voice says, "Finally we meet. I've heard a lot about your little group. I had a brother who was a diviner, who once told me that the only thing that could stop me from ruling all of Toril was an adventuring party, he described exactly like yourselves. That was right before I cleaved his skull with my sword. I have spent the last 3 months of my life tracking you and plotting. By ending your pathetic existence I will finally have a firm grasp on Toril, and I, Braxius, lord of the living dead will finally be granted the power I am due." He then beckons his undead servants and says in a dark and low tone, "Attack." He then turns and disappears into the night from whence he came.

If the PCs didn't follow the bard and still made their save vs Poison then the doppelgangers will change to their original form and join the fray. Stats for the doppelgangers can be found in section 1a.

Monster	XP	Treasure	AC	Att#	Move	Damage	Thaco	Hit Dice	Hit Points
Zombie, ju ju	975		6	1	9	1d10+2	15	3+12	24
Zombie, ju ju	975		6	1	9	1d10+2	15	3+12	29
Zombie, ju ju	975		6	1	9	1d10+2	15	3+12	29
Zombie, ju ju	975		6	1	9	1d10+2	15	3+12	19
Zombie, ju ju	975		6	1	9	1d10+2	15	3+12	32

PART 2 (THE QUEST)

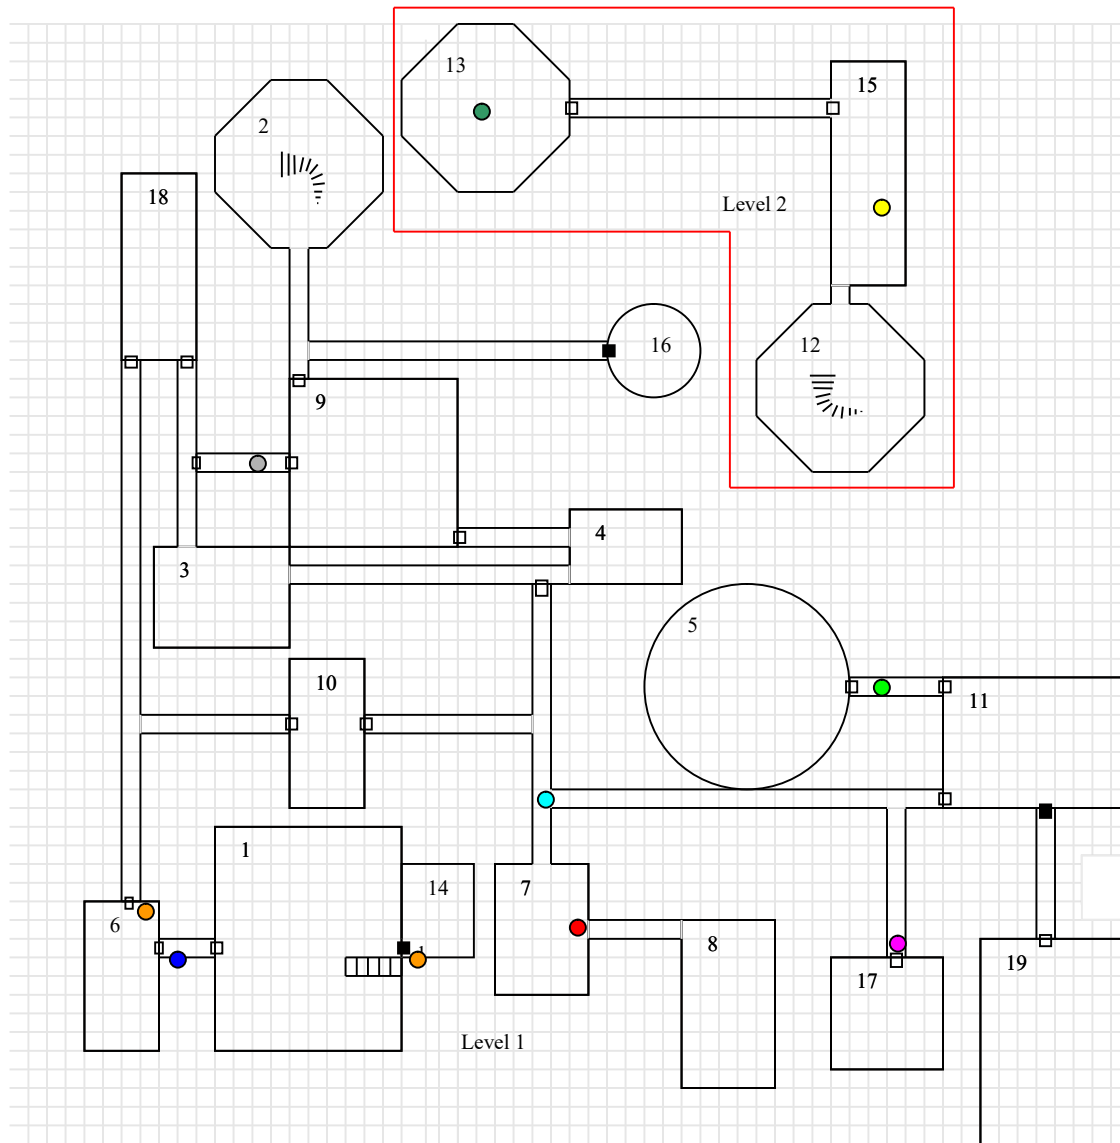

(Section 1)

When the PCs leave the tavern they will discover that the whole town is empty and dead quiet. But what they do not know is that Braxius has had the town slaughtered by doppelganger assassins in the silence of the night. And he had it all done while the PCs were relaxing in the tavern. He then raised them as undead minions. Since the town is small it is up to the DM just how much loot there is to be found, (just don't give away too much too soon in the module.) Read the following to the PCs

You set foot out of the once jovial tavern to a strange atmosphere of dead silence. No one is about and the normally busy little community is completely motionless. After a brief look around, you see that in many places the ground is soaked with blood, but strangely enough, aside from the occasional severed limb, there are no bodies to be found. Suddenly, to your surprise, you hear a shaky and nervous voice coming from the shadows, "Please, listen to me. You may be all of Toril's only hope. The man who you seek is known as Braxius. I knew his brother, I studied magic with him, before Braxius killed him". A pale and weak man steps out from the shadows wearing the purple robes of the war wizards. He appears to be frail and weak, but behind his wise eyes hides power unfortold "I am Slagel, war wizard of Cormyr. I was sent here by Vangerdahast himself to destroy Braxius. He is a warrior who has gone quite mad, He used to be so kind and benevolent. But I fear that all of that has changed now. It has come to the attention of the Court of the Purple Dragon that Braxius has discovered a relic with unimaginable power. The artifact of which I speak is called the Crystal of The Undead. With this artifact Braxius has gained the ability to raise and command legions of these unholy monstrosities. But also through this artifact Braxius has gone insane, as it is said that the artifact would do to any who possess it. He has become power mad. He now seeks to rule all of Toril under the oppression of his undead legions. And with the Crystal of the Undead, it is very possible for him to do just that. Our prophecies speak of a band of adventurers that will be the only hope of for Faerun and the rest of Toril, and you my friends are those adventurers. It was folly for me to challenge Braxius. But we had to do something. We could not just sit idol and let this mad man reek havok on the land. But alas, I have failed. It is luck that I have run into you my friends. I beseech you, for all of Toril will you stop this mad man?" Before you have a chance to answer the wizard he falls to the ground like a limp oil cloth and you notice for the first time the horribly fatal wounds on his back. With weak shaking hands he hands you a map marked (Entrance to the forgotten ruins of Kalthrax). And with his last living breath he says" you must go to these ruins were Braxius hides and seek the Crystal of Life to destroy his evil, and save Toril. Please adventurers, do not fail me." With that he ceases to breathe and his eyes roll into his head. Now you have a choice adventurers, will you seek this Crystal of Life. And put an end to Braxius's evil plans? Or will you wait and see if the old wizards prophecy comes to pass. Indeed it would seem that the whole world depends upon your decision.

The PCs will weigh out their options. Inevitably they will look at the map. It shows that the entrance to the forgotten ruins lie underneath this very town. The entrance is in the third stall of the local stables. It is hidden by a magical illusion. To find the entrance the map says that the PCs must stand in the third stall of the stables and speak the words Vlac Smun Gan Furm, at which time the entrance will show itself. They will have no trouble finding the stables. When the PCs finally reach the stables and say the magic words, an iron door with intricately crafted features. It is not locked but it is however very heavy. It will take a combined strength score of 25 to lift the door open. It is dark in the there, to continue further, the PCs will need a light source. Now the real fun begins!

The forgotten ruins of Kalthrax

Level 1

Legend

-  Stairway
-  Entrance
-  Secret Door

 Dividing Line of Dungeon Levels

Traps (all traps are described in appendix 2 of this module)

- | | |
|--|--|
|  Pit locking (Room) |  Gust of Death (Door) |
|  Pull Me (Room) |  Nosebleed (Door) |
|  Corridor of Chains (Hall) |  Alluring Ooze (Hall) |
|  Telescope (Hall) |  Spikes (Hall) |
|  Ant Trap (Room) | |

Room # 1 – The Entry Hall

This room is completely painted black, even the floor is covered with a strange sort of black sand. It smells like a tomb. You are met by 4 skeletal men bearing long swords and shields, painted with the sign of a black hand on a red background.

Contents:

Items in this room: sand

Encounter:

Monster	XP	Treasure	AC	Att#	Move	Damage	THAC0	HD	HP
Baneguard	975		6	1	12	1d8	15	4+4	27
Baneguard	975		6	1	12	1d8	15	4+4	31
Baneguard	975		6	1	12	1d8	15	4+4	16
Baneguard	975		6	1	12	1d8	15	4+4	21

Room # 2 – Stair Chamber

Paintings of beholders line the walls of this room. The eyes move! The air is still and warm. Located in the middle of this large octagonal room is a large staircase leading down.

Contents:

Items in this room: immovable paintings. (scrying devices), rotting wood, common mold.

Room # 3 - Chapel

This room is lined with decaying tapestries depicting the death of the god bane. There is a black altar in one of the corners with half melted candles and a few splatterings of blood.

Contents:

Items in this room: altar of bane, tapestries, bottle of unholy water, holy symbol of bane

Treasure: Gold Candlestick (10 gp), Gold Candlestick (10 gp)

Room # 4 - Vestibule

Tapestries of black and red line the walls in this room. 4 zombies with inhuman features stand like silent sentinels guarding the vestibule of the dead god Bane.

Contents:

Items in this room: pellets; bones; hair; tapestries

Encounter:

Monster	XP	Treasure	AC	Att#	Move	Damage	THAC0	HD	HP
Zombie, Monster	650		6	1	9	4d4	15	6	33
Zombie, Monster	650		6	1	9	4d4	15	6	35
Zombie, Monster	650		6	1	9	4d4	15	6	29
Zombie, Monster	650		6	1	9	4d4	15	6	30

Room # 5 - Library

This huge round room is in fact a magnificent library. The entire wall is lined with a gigantic round bookshelf holding all sorts of dusty tomes and parchments. In the very center stands a huge desk with a single black leather bound book, several candles, and a quill and ink. Standing at either end of the huge desk are skeletal beings with holy symbols of the dead god Bane clutched in each hand. And standing directly in front of the desk is a much more evil looking skeletal form with flesh still clinging to some of its putrid bones. It also has a holy symbol of Bane, strapped around it's neck. There are shadows dancing around the room, but nothing is moving.

(DM notes: This entire room is directly in the center of a dead magic area)

Contents:

Items in this room: useless old crumbling tomes of various realms lore, a black leather bound book., candles, candle sticks

Encounter:

Monster	XP	Treasure	AC	Att#	Move	Damage	THAC0	HD	HP
Baneguard	975		7	1	12	1d6	15	4+4	32
Baneguard	975		7	1	12	1d6	15	4+4	23
Banedeath	2000		4	2	12	2d6/1d6	15	6	45
Shadow	420		7	1	12	1d4+1 + special	17	3+3	18
Shadow	420		7	1	12	1d4+1 + special	17	3+3	16

Treasure: Black spell book containing every necromancy spell known to exist, and 6 golden candlesticks (30 gp each)

Room # 6 – Ancient Armory

Your torches flicker and sway as if in a breeze, yet the air seems still. Weapon racks line the walls all with rusty weapons and broken armaments. Wandering aimlessly through the room are 5 zombies of non human origin. Who immediately leap to the attack.

Contents:

Items in this room: ropes; boots; broken sword blades; rusted and useless armor

Encounter:

Monster	XP	Treasure	AC	Att#	Move	Damage	THAC0	HD	HP
Zombie, Monster	650		6	1	9	4d4	15	6	38
Zombie, Monster	650		6	1	9	4d4	15	6	30
Zombie, Monster	650	In Lair	6	1	9	4d4	15	6	33
Zombie, Monster	650		6	1	9	4d4	15	6	22
Zombie, Monster	650		6	1	9	4d4	15	6	35

Treasure: Scale Mail, Battle Axe,

Room # 7 – Waiting Hall

This room has been cleared of all debris and scrubbed clean. The fine stonework in this room reminds you of tales of dwarven cities. Wooden benches line the walls.

Room # 8 - Smithy

This is an ancient smithy. Ancient though it is, it is very clean and still in working condition. The smelting fires are still warm from recent use. There are various tools for metal craft among other things. The roof in here reaches a good twenty feet into the air. There are 4 skeletons standing a whopping 13 feet tall apiece. And they all have a strange fire burning in their rib cages.

Contents:

Items in this room: forge, anvils, hammers, tongs and other iron working devices

Encounter:

Monster	XP	Treasure	AC	Att#	Move	Damage	THAC0	HD	HP
Skeleton, Giant	975		4	1	12	1d12	15	4+4	22
Skeleton, Giant	975		4	1	12	1d12	15	4+4	11
Skeleton, Giant	975		4	1	12	1d12	15	4+4	32
Skeleton, Giant	975		4	1	12	1d12	15	4+4	20

Room # 9 – Worship Chamber

There are various paintings along the walls depicting the rise and fall of the dead god Bane. There are also two open tombs with dead beings wrapped in old linen cloth. Just as you notice the rotting form of another undead abomination, the two mummies spring to life and slowly advance with their ancient arms outstretched.

Contents:

Items in this room: stand; hooks; shrine; dust; pottery shards

Encounter:

Monster	XP	Treasure	AC	Att#	Move	Damage	THAC0	HD	HP
Mummy	3000		3	1	6	1d12	13	6+3	32
Mummy	3000		3	1	6	1d12	13	6+3	32
Wight	1400		5	1	12	1d4	15	4+3	18

Room # 10 – The Room of Lost Souls

The wail of a thousand dead soldiers can be heard in this room. There are two undead beings with cruel burning eyes and mummified flesh twisted around gnarled bones, and hands ending in sharp claws, also there are two undead that look like black clouds at the base rising into a torso with two arms and a skeletal face with burning red eyes and mouth openings. There is a smell of burning flesh here.

Encounter:

Monster	XP	Treasure	AC	Att#	Move	Damage	THAC0	HD	HP
Wraith	2000		4	1	12, Fl 24 (B)	1d6	15	5+3	27
Wraith	2000		4	1	12, Fl 24 (B)	1d6	15	5+3	31
Wight	1400		5	1	12	1d4	15	4+3	20
Wight	1400		5	1	12	1d4	15	4+3	20

Treasure:

Gold Ring (20 gp), Diamond (500 gp) The treasure is contained in an Urn

Room # 11 - Torture Chamber

In this room are all kinds of devices meant to inflict pain. There is a rack, an assortment of whips and chains, a fire place, an assortment of acids, and other devices of torture. There are what appears to be the undead forms of two ogres with the flesh still rotting from their enormous bones, and along side them stands two zombies that look much like the ones you fought in the tavern earlier this night.

(DM note: the secret door leading to room 19 cannot be discovered without the Crystal of Life, if the PCs have the crystal in their collection the door will automatically appear.)

Contents:

Items in this room: club, splintered; whips x4, tongs, rope 100ft., coal, kettle, fire wood, metal foot fixtures, large sack

Encounter:

Monster	XP	Treasure	AC	Att#	Move	Damage	THAC0	HD	HP
Zombie, Monster	650		6	1	9	4d4	15	6	34
Zombie, Monster	650		6	1	9	4d4	15	6	18
Zombie, Ju-ju	975		6	1	9	3d4	15	3+12	27
Zombie, Ju-ju	975		6	1	9	3d4	15	3+12	25

Treasure:

Emerald (1479 gp), Emerald (233 gp), Emerald (446 gp), Emerald (184 gp), Ring w/Gem
The treasure is contained in a large sack

Room # 12 – Stair Chamber (second level)

The room has a quiet sense, death is in the air, upon descending the stairway you are met by the gaze of 5 of the horrible undead creatures with sharp claws and gnarled features.

Encounter:

Monster	XP	Treasure	AC	Att#	Move	Damage	THAC0	HD	HP
Wight	1400		5	1	12	1d4	15	4+3	28
Wight	1400		5	1	12	1d4	15	4+3	28
Wight	1400		5	1	12	1d4	15	4+3	29
Wight	1400		5	1	12	1d4	15	4+3	24
Wight	1400		5	1	12	1d4	15	4+3	24

Room # 13 – The Holding Cell

This round room is lit up brighter than full daylight with an unclouded sky. At the center of the brilliant light lies a crystal orb that seems to be teeming with the essence of life itself. You know almost immediately that this is the object of your endeavor the Crystal of Life.

(DM note: the crystal is located directly over a pressure plate which will open into a pit when 100 lbs or more are upon it. The trap is described in appendix 2. When the PCs have the crystal in their hands read them the following.)

A magical message begins to form on the crystal in golden letters. It says “find the torture chamber”.

Contents:

Items in this room: the Crystal of Life

Room # 14- Braxius’s Sleeping Quarters

There is a huge canopy bed here with black bed fittings and a portrait above the mantle of none other than Braxius himself. A great oaken chest lies at the foot of the great bed. Standing in wait at each post of the bed is a zombie just like the ones you met in the tavern earlier tonight.

Contents:

Items in this room: grooming materials, black bed sheets, large wooden chest

Encounter:

Monster	XP	Treasure	AC	Att#	Move	Damage	THAC0	HD	HP
Zombie, Ju-ju	975	In Lair	6	1	9	3d4	15	3+12	35
Zombie, Ju-ju	975		6	1	9	3d4	15	3+12	28
Zombie, Ju-ju	975		6	1	9	3d4	15	3+12	28
Zombie, Ju-ju	975		6	1	9	3d4	15	3+12	30

Treasure:

Bag of Holding, Dagger of Venom, 500 gp, 234 pp, 128 sp

Room # 15 – Prison

This room is what appears to be some sort of prison. There are 3 strange little humanoids with leathery gray skin shackled to the walls with thick chains. They are almost unconscious. Standing guard over the strange little beings are two enormous skeletons with fires burning in their chests.

(DM notes: the doppelgangers have been imprisoned by Braxius after refusing to serve him and his evil purposes. All they know is that Braxius has an item of enormous power and he keeps here in these ruins, the only item that can possibly counter his evil relic)

Contents:

Items in this room: common fungi; cinders; mold-common

Encounter:

Monster	XP	Treasure	AC	Att#	Move	Damage	THAC0	HD	HP
Skeleton, Giant	975		4	1	12	1d12	15	4+4	16
Skeleton, Giant	975		4	1	12	1d12	15	4+4	19
Doppleganger	420		5	1	9	1d12	17	4	24
Doppleganger	420		5	1	9	1d12	17	4	13
Doppleganger	420		5	1	9	1d12	17	4	16

Room # 16 – Hidden Treasury

The ceiling of this room is domed, The air is a strong gusting wind. Sitting right in the center of the room is a steel treasure chest (DM note: the chest is unlocked)

Contents:

Items in this room: treasure chest

Encounter:

Treasure:

539 Gold, Emerald (1857 gp), Emerald (930 gp), Emerald (1322 gp), Emerald (515 gp), Emerald (1254 gp), Emerald (888 gp), Emerald (1477 gp), Emerald (713 gp), Emerald (224 gp), Emerald (329 gp)

The treasure is contained in Chest

Room # 17 - Pantry

This room is filled with all sorts of dried unspoilable rations and food stores. This is where Braxius keeps his food. Cowering in one of the corners is a small gray humanoid. Standing over him with deadly intent are two giant skeletons with balls of fire burning in their ribcages.

(DM notes: The doppelganger is a refugee who refused to serve Braxius and is about to pay the ultimate price, death.)

Contents:

Items in this room: broken sword blade; iron bar bent and rusted; lamp; ink well; pillow; cracked flask; skull; bottle

Encounter:

Monster	XP	Treasure	AC	Att#	Move	Damage	THAC0	HD	HP
Skeleton, Giant	975		4	1	12	1d12	15	4+4	21
Skeleton, Giant	975		4	1	12	1d12	15	4+4	25
Doppleganger	420		5	1	9	1d12	17	4	24

Room # 18 - Infirmary

By the looks of this room it must have been an infirmary at one time. But the undead has little use for healing so this room has degraded and went unattended for what appears to be centuries. There are two odd looking cubes apparently floating in the air, they appear to be gelatinous in origin and in each of them are trapped several metal objects, such as swords and helmets and a few coins.

Contents:

Items in this room: pipe; torn sack; glove; vase; bell; broken pole; mattress; dagger hilt; cobwebs; mold-common; stand; bark; crate; funnel; hair/fur bits; mud; book; belt; boots

Encounter:

Monster	XP	Treasure	AC	Att#	Move	Damage	THAC0	HD	HP
Gelatinous Cube	650		8	1	6	2d4	17	4	21
Gelatinous Cube	650		8	1	6	2d4	17	4	15

Room # 19 – The Resting Chamber of the Crystal of the Undead.

Upon entry to this room you can feel the essence of death surround you. Sitting on a pedestal is the object of your quest, an orb blacker than the heart of Cyric himself, And beside it, an enormous pile of Wonderful treasures, and the man whom you seek. Braxius. He looks at you with an emotionless glare and says in that deep menacing tone you’ve come to know him by, “So you’ve finally made it to my little hiding place, too bad for you. Unfortunately you must now be made no more.” He waves his hands and two piles of bones that litter the floor spring to life instantly and a ball of fire begins to grow within their ribs. The time of your destiny has arrived.

*(DM notes: All that needs to be done to destroy the Crystal of the Undead is for it to come in contact with the Crystal of Life, at which point both crystals will become dull and gray and be forever useless. Braxius knows this and will try to prevent it at all costs) *

Contents:

Items in this room: treasure; the Crystal of Undead

Encounter:

Monster	XP	Treasure	AC	Att#	Move	Damage	THAC0	HD	HP
Skeleton, Giant	975		4	1	12	1d12	15	4+4	25
Skeleton, Giant	975		4	1	12	1d12	15	4+4	28

Braxius 13th level Warrior: AC: -5 #Att: 5/2 Move: 12 Damage: 1d10+4 Thaco: 4 HP: 124

Special Defenses: Plate mail of Magic Resistance 50%, Ring of Regeneration 1hp every round

Attacks: Two Handed Sword of Darkness: (when struck PC must make a save vs. Spells or be blinded for 1d6 rounds.)
Fearless XP: 10,000

Strength: 17

Dexterity: 14

Intelligence: 15

Constitution: 16

Wisdom: 10

Charisma: 13

Items: 2-Handed Sword of Darkness +3, Plate mail of Magic Resistance 50% +5, Ring of Regeneration, Ring of Protection +3.

Special Morale:

(DM notes: Braxius will attempt to take out the magic using PCs first and then worry about the heavily armed PCs. Fallen PCs will rise in 2d4 rds as ju ju zombies and be forced to attack the party.)

Treasure:

Ruby (1683 gp), Ruby (894 gp), Ruby (1277 gp), Emerald (1594 gp), Emerald (1673 gp), 3058 gp, Any 8 Magic Items (randomly rolled)

PART 3 (THE ENDING)

(Section 1)

Once the PCs find the Crystal of the Undead and touch it with the Crystal of Life, all the undead in the ruins that havn't been defeated will instantly die and become at rest once again. When the PCs find their way out of Kalthrax, read to them the following.

Finally the horrible nightmare has ended, you never thought you would ever be so happy to see the sun as you are this morning when you emerge from the forgotten ruins to feel the first rays of the morning sun fall on your faces. You are tired and sore. Suddenly the immensity of the whole situation hits home. You are truly heroes. You have single handedly saved the Realms. But who's going to know about it? What proof do you have? Perhaps knowing yourselves that you have prevented this great catastrophe is enough to put your souls at rest. Besides, who needs fame? Not you, right?

To be acknowledged for their heroism all the PCs have to do is take either both crystals, the head of Braxius, or all three to the Court of the Purple Dragon in Cormyr. Vangerdahast himself will want to personally greet the PCs. He will then ask about the wizard Slagel. When he finds out that he has been slain he will invite the PCs to his funeral, after which there will be a grand festival celebrating the heroes victory over the evil warrior Braxius

THE END

Appendix 1: Monsters

Banedead

AC: 4
Att#: 2
Damage: 2d6/1d6
Move: 12
Size: M
XP 2000
HD(8): 6
Treasure: nil
Align: LE
Climate: Any Terrain: Any
were fanatical worshippers of Bane, attack priests & paladins first (able to determine good deity), attack: claw/bite, if hit by either drains 2 DEX (if 0, paralyzed 1 turn), DEX regained 1/turn, immune: sleep, charm, hold, illusions & poison,

Baneguard

AC: 7
Att#: 1
Damage: 1d6 or weapon
Move: 12
Size: M
XP 975
HD(8): 4+4
Treasure: V
Align: NE
Climate: Any Terrain: Land
animated skeletons as guardians, can blink 1/turn for 4 rnds, cast magic missiles (2) 1 per 3 rnds (60'), most use swords, employ non-verbal magic items, immune: sleep, charm, hold, fear spells, or cold based, edged

Bat, Huge

AC: 10
Att#: 1
Damage: 2d4
Move: 3, Fl 15 (C)
Size: H
XP 420-975
HD(8): 5
Treasure: C
Align: NE
Climate: Temp/Trop
Terrain: Subterranean
SD-victims suffer -3 to surprise SA-screech forces victims to cover ears rather than fight save vs paralysis
AC 2 while in flight, 7 in crowded flight & 10 on ground, +1 THAC0 per additional HD

Doppleganger

AC: 5
Att#: 1
Damage: 1d12
Move: 9
Size: M
XP 420
HD(8): 4
Treasure: E
Align: N
Climate: Any Terrain: Any
shape-shifter, chooses victim, duplicates form, attempts to kill him & take his place, 90% accurate, immune: sleep, charm & saves as 10th lvl fighter, hired as assassins or spies, greedy, cowardice

Gelatinous Cube

AC: 8
Att#: 1
Damage: 2d4
Move: 6
Size: L
XP 650
HD(8): 4
Treasure: nil
Align: N
Climate: Any
Terrain: Subterranean
transparent 10' cube, slide along floor, attacks with anesthetic slime save vs paralysis or paralyzed for 5d4 rnd dmg caused by digestive acid, -3 on surprise roll, immune: electric, fear, hold, paralysis, polymorph & sleep,

Ghast

AC: 4
Att#: 3
Damage: 1d4/1d4/1d8
Move: 15
Size: M
XP 650
HD(8): 4
Treasure: B, Q, R, S, T
Align: CE
Climate: Any Terrain: Land

indistinguishable from ghouls, usually found with them, give off stench 10'-radius save vs poison or att -2, paralysis (even elves) save vs paralysis or 1d6+4 rnds, immune: sleep & charm, cold iron causes double

Mummy

AC: 3
Att#: 1
Damage: 1d12
Move: 6
Size: M
XP 3000
HD(8): 6+3
Treasure: P (D)
Align: LE
Climate: Any Terrain: Desert

hate living things, strong, touch inflicts disease fatal in 1d6 months (-2 CHR/mo perm), cure disease, wounds heal at 10%, fear-save vs spell or paralysis 1d4 rnds (humans save +2 & for every 6 save +1), immune: poison,

Shadow

AC: 7
Att#: 1
Damage: 1d4+1 + special
Move: 12
Size: M
XP 420
HD(8): 3+3
Treasure: F
Align: CE
Climate: Any
Terrain: Subterranean

90% undetectable in all but brightest light, touch inflicts dmg + 1 STR drain (returns in 2d4 turns) if reduced to 0 STR or HP it becomes a shadow, immune: sleep, charm & hold, can be turned, no leaders, only possible

Skeleton, Giant

AC: 4
Att#: 1
Damage: 1d12
Move: 12
Size: L
XP 975
HD(8): 4+4
Treasure: nil
Align: N
Climate: Any Terrain: Any

magically created, can not communicate, obey verbal commands, attack w/ sword or spear (1d12 each), 1/hr draw fire from chest (as fireball) 8d6 dmg, immune: fire, sleep, charm, hold & mind spells, cold 1/2, E or P 1/2,

Skeleton, Monster

AC: 6
Att#: 1
Damage: by weapon
Move: 12
Size: M
XP 65
HD(8): 6
Treasure: Nil
Align: N
Climate: Any Terrain: Any

use swords or spears, immune to sleep, charm, hold, fear spells, or cold based, slashing weapons 1/2 dmg blunt weapons full dmg, holy water 2d4/vial, animated creatures serve as guards or warriors for wizards or

Wight

AC: 5
Att#: 1
Damage: 1d4
Move: 12
Size: M
XP 1400
HD(8): 4+3
Treasure: B
Align: LE
Climate: Any Terrain: Land
enhabit barrows & catacombs, silver & magic weapons, touch causes dmg & drains 1 level, if killed by wight victim turns into one of 1/2 normal HD, recovery is nearly impossible, immune: cold, sleep, hold, cold, poison &

Wraith

AC: 4
Att#: 1
Damage: 1d6
Move: 12, Fl 24 (B)
Size: M
XP 2000
HD(8): 5+3
Treasure: E
Align: LE
Climate: Any Terrain: Any
black man-shaped clouds, touch has chilling effect & drains 1 lvl, silver or +1 weapons, holy water 2d4, raise dead unless save kills it, immune: sleep, charm, hold, death, poison & cold, animal refuse to enter 30' of them,

Zombie, Ju-ju

AC: 6
Att#: 1
Damage: 3d4
Move: 9
Size: M
XP 975
HD(8): 3+12
Treasure: nil
Align: N
Climate: Any Terrain: Any
created if life force drained by energy drain spell, hate all living, use normal weapons sometimes, climb walls 92%, +1 weapons to hit, blunt & pierce 1/2 dmg, immune: psionics, illusions, electric, magic missiles, sleep,

Zombie, Monster

AC: 6
Att#: 1
Damage: 4d4
Move: 9
Size: L
XP 650
HD(8): 6
Treasure: nil
Align: N
Climate: Any Terrain: Any
mindless animated corpses, move slowly strike last in combat, pummel victims, immune: sleep, charm, hold, death, poison & cold, holy water 2d4 dmg, found near graveyards or dungeouns, follow simple commands of

Appendix 2: Traps

Ant Trap

Pit trap with ants and honey at bottom.

The trap is a regular trap door that leads to a steel shaft (that nobody can climb out of without magic). As soon as the PC hits rock bottom, it opens 2 doors above him. One pours out honey, and the other pours out ants.

Alluring Ooze

Glue trap with a lure.

In a cubby hole on the side of a wall resides a powerful weapon (DM's choice but make it so the PCs will want it.) As the greedy adventurer reaches out to grab the weapon, his hand gets stuck in a gelatinous ooze. He cannot remove his hand unless he successfully makes a bend bars/lift gate check [which will probably shear his hand from his arm if successful].

Pit locking

Pit

Pit locks after character falls in, takes 25 strength points combined to lift again.

Pull Me

Ropes hanging from the ceiling trigger damaging spells.

There's a large room about 20'x20' with two doors opposite each other. The ceiling to this room rises high into darkness and hanging out of the darkness to the floor are three ropes. As soon as the last PC enters the room, the door slams shut and magically locks behind them. Both doors are very difficult to force, or pick open as there are no visible key holes. The object here is to get the PCs to try to climb the ropes. Once a force greater than fifty pounds is applied, the rope pops free from the ceiling, dropping the contents of a small secret compartment to the floor below. One drops a delayed blast fireball, another a stinking cloud, and the third releases the key to get out of here. Placing the key near the door will allow its magic to show the key hole that earlier was non-existent. I hope other gamers out there find this one as fun to use as I did. I used it in a higher level campaign to prevent actually killing the PCs but to teach them not to yank things that they are clueless to where they lead!

Corridor of Chains

Trapped chains over a spike pit.

The space from the bottom of the pit to the ceiling is 40'. The chains can hang all the way down to the bottom, so the space from where a PC is to the top of a spike will have to be left to the DM. Also, when a chain falls a certain amount of feet, it raises the spikes up as fast as the PC's weight pulls the chain. So in effect, a PC can impale himself on a spike because his weight pushed it up as fast as he fell, and squuuuishhhhh. OUCH!

Telescope

Petrification of a curious PC.

The PCs find a telescope [or spyglass]. At the other end of the telescope is a reduced medusa's head that still works.

Gust of Death

Air is pushed with deadly force through tiny holes.

The trap is several Gust of Wind spells cast through needle-holes in the wall. Permanency has been cast to keep the Gust of Wind continuous. The trap essentially creates an air laser with the ability to cut in half anyone that steps through it. Only a character with keen hearing or other senses can detect it without actively looking for it.

Nosebleed

Door quickly swings open and bludgeons the PC.

The PCs encounter a normal door styled to the dungeon. The door is not locked but if the knob or whatever means of opening is used the door swings rapidly open until it hits something then closes just as fast. If it hits a PC's head or body it causes 1D4 damage and immobilizes them for one turn. A variant is that the real hinges to the door are on the same side as the knob. The result: the PC is sandwiched between the door and wall.

Spikes

Hallway with crushing damage

In a long corridor, the players find large spikes about half their height, and spaced evenly. They are far enough apart that the players can walk right through them without hindrance. At some point, have them notice the holes in the ceiling that are parallel with the spikes. Last, have the floor move upward very quickly (or very slowly), crushing the players.